

To whom it may concern,

The Irish Paralympic Sailing Team is made up of three members. John Twomey (Cork), who is the only man in the world to be competing in his 11th consecutive Paralympic Games. Ian Costelloe (Kerry), who will be attending his second Paralympic Games and Austin O Carroll (Dublin) who will be attending his first.

As part of their campaign for Rio 2016 they are running a competition for schools in which they are asking students to design a logo and campaign slogan for the Team for their campaign.

The prize for the student will be a team jacket. In addition to this the winning logo, slogan and the School's name will be on the boat for the campaign and the Paralympic Games. Also there would be an opportunity for the student and two friends to sail with the Paralympic sailing team.

We are hoping to include that the school would host a casual day to raise awareness of the competition and funds for the Irish Paralympic sailing campaign. If the school would like a member of the team to come and address the students about what it takes to represent your country in the Paralympics then we would be delighted to provide the same.

The closing date for the competition is the 26th of February 2016 as the events that lead up to the Paralympic Games commence then and we would like the logo and campaign slogan to be promoted for the student and the school at these events.
